

Long Neck Hill Tribe Villages

Learn more about diversity of northern Thai culture by visiting one of the hill tribe villages near Chiang Rai. As you'll need transportation and a translator to get most out of the experience, hill tribe villages are most commonly visited as part of a cultural research. The most visited tribal villages are Karen Village, Akha Village and Hmong Village due to its heritage and ancient tradition.

Highlights: Observe elephants moving timber at elephant camps visit the villages and meet the members of the long-necked hill tribe, visit an orchid farm and Queen Sirikit Botanic Gardens

Getting There: Located among various villages between Chiang Rai and Golden Triangle. The best way to reach the place is by local transport or by trekking.